Specialist MENTAL HEALTH COURSE

Assessment: Case-Study Report Task Instructions

Case Study Task

The case studies will be provided by the course lecturer – Two of the current case studies to be provided to each student. Two case studies. (sections 1-10 to be completed for each client)

You must use fictitious names and localities in your report.

Information to inform your report can be collected by observation or using information from the internet or your course manual.

Please answer the questions outlined below in order with clear headings per section. The questions will provide a logical structure to your case study report.

1. Describe the experience of an individual taking part in an ERS. What exercise are they doing, at the facility and away from it?
What ADLs and PALs or activities have you suggested the client's do when not in the centre (Nordic walking, dog walking, gardening etc) and what are they doing in centre during the intervention (gym 1-2-1, circuit class etc)
2. What elements of the scheme does the individual perceive as important?
Each client will have a different element they feel is important. Meeting other people, 1-2-1 support, ADL or PAL activities etc
3. What positive and negative experiences does the participant anticipate and experience from being in the ERS?
Table. Positives one side and Negatives the other side (more positives than negatives)
4. What are the pros and cons attached to being involved in the ERS for the individual?
Table. Pros one side and Cons the other side (more positives than negatives)
5. What are the key positive and negative influences on the individual's experiences in the ERS?
Table. Positives one side and Negatives the other side (more positives than negatives)
6. How does the individual perceive the role of the exercise practitioner? (What are you there for)?
What does the client think you do? Train them as a PT, support them in the gym, buddy with them in classes etc
7. What is the perceived role of the exercise leader on the participants' experience?

What do you think you do? Support, 1-2-1, PT, advise etc? (this may be the same for both clients)

8. What are the key factors that may impact on the likelihood of the individual maintaining an active lifestyle more generally?
Goal setting, SMART planning, signposting etc
9. Did the involvement in the ERS have any influence on helping the individual to regulate mood and manage less healthy behaviours (e.g., snacking, smoking)?
Did the client manage their behaviours with things like food diary, Mood diary, smoking cessation etc?
10. What measures did you use to assess any changes in physical activity and mental health?
Personal goals, Pre and post clinical measures (BP/BF%, GAD scores etc)
